

VIVIEN DOVONON

Vivien Dovonon is a civil aviation engineer graduated from the African School of Civil Aviation and Meteorology (EAMAC), Niamey (Niger) in 2003. He also received a Specialized Master's degrees in Aviation and Air Traffic Management from the French Civil Aviation School (ENAC), Toulouse in 2012.

During his professional career at ASECNA, an air navigation service provider in 17 African States, Vivien DOVONON accumulated over thirteen years of operational experience in Benin and Mauritania where he held the position of Air Navigation Operations Manager at Cotonou and Nouakchott airports from 2008 to 2017.

Since 2017, Vivien Dovonon has been involved in the implementation of the SBAS for Africa and Indian Ocean Program, initiated by ASECNA, in which he works on the Mission, Services and Adoption aspects of the Program.